In 1992 we incorporated Linehan Outfitting Company with the full realization that this business is ultimately about customer service. Sure we’re nuts about fly fishing, upland bird hunting, and chasing trophy whitetails and elk. But we also know that flannel sheets are extraordinarily comfortable and that fresh, locally grown foods inherently taste better. We also know that impatient, cranky guides are intolerable and that you should never, ever have to deal with one on your vacation. After 26 years in business, we’re confident with our day to day operations, always appreciate suggestions, and promise to give you 100%.

It has never been our ambition to be one of the biggest Montana fly fishing or hunting companies in the west, JUST ONE OF THE BEST.

LOC FLY FISHING: THE KOOTENAI RIVER

The Kootenai is our home river and is located in Libby, Montana. It’s a big, broad, western tailwater (which means it’s located below a dam) and we spend most of our time fishing on the Kootenai. Full of rainbow and cutthroat trout averaging 10”-20” the Kootenai is considered primarily a dry fly river.

When is the best time to come? We can have some quality pre-runoff opportunities during April and early May and then the river floods with snowmelt. Around the first of July the doors of the season swing wide open with great hatches of mayflies and caddis flies and good fishing lasts through November.

The Kootenai is most efficiently fished from a drift boat. While we’ll always fish from the boats through the deep pools, we also like to get out and wade through the riffles and runs as well. The Kootenai is far less traveled than other more famous rivers of the state and usually we only see a couple other drift boats during the entire day.

THE CLARK FORK

The Clark Fork River is located in St. Regis, Montana and is very similar to the Kootenai. By volume the Clark Fork is the largest river in the state and is also best fished from a drift boat. The Clark Fork offers more consistent early season action (April-early May) due to a fairly prolific stonefly hatch. The full season begins around the first of July and lasts into November. The Clark Fork is also considered a dry fly fishery and its rainbows and cutthroats also average 10”- 20”.

LAKES AND PONDS

There are numerous lower elevation and alpine lakes and ponds in the area that also offer solid angling opportunities. Most of the lakes are fished from float tubes although we do fish occasionally from drift boats when accessible. There are alpine lakes chock full of smaller cutthroats that are surrounded by thousand foot cliffs and offer some of most spectacular scenery around, and there are lakes surrounded by forest that offer opportunities for some larger rainbows as well.

For those of you who aren’t familiar with our business, here’s some information on exactly what rivers we fish and what you might expect from each one.

SPRING FLING: BITTERROOT, MISSOURI & OTHER RIVERS

LOC Early Season Fly Fishing Adventures
During the spring the LOC crew spends their time banging around the state chasing hatches and big fish. Beginning in March we become nomadic and hit the road since our local conditions are generally inconsistent due to snow melt. You decide what dates you want to fish, we provide details and help arrange lodging, etc. Simple as that. These trips are a great way to experience new water with LOC. Space is limited due to the popularity of these trips.

March-April
Trips are based out of Missoula, Montana with fishing on the Clark Fork, Blackfoot, and Bitterroot rivers.

Mid-May through Mid-June
Trips are based out of Craig, Montana with fishing on the Missouri River.

What sets Tim and his guides apart at Linehan Outfitting is their personal attention to detail. His guides know the river and the fish and are great teachers who go the extra mile to make sure guests have a good experience.

WILD UPLAND BIRD HUNTING:

During the fall LOC offers upland bird hunting opportunities. We love to run dogs and chase birds and have three species of native grouse here in our area. Good populations of ruffed, blue and spruce grouse inhabit the local forest and generally we average around 3-4 flushes per hour. You’ll hunt behind seasoned Golden Retriever Gracie and English Setters Maisy and Maggie, or feel free to bring your own dog. Terrain is moderate to rugged and mountainous, with elevations ranging from 3000 feet to 5000 feet. The forest consists of dense, coniferous, mixed age class and species of timber. The shooting is fast, exciting, and after a long day, very satisfying.

Mid-September through Mid-October. Space is limited.

"This is my second time with Linehan Outfitting Company and they are a class act. Great dogs, knowledgeable guides and incredible customer service. When you want to hunt blues, spruce and ruffed grouse, Tim Linehan is the only guide I would recommend."

All of our lodging is private. We do not mix parties, although you are welcome to join one of many hosted trips throughout the year.

JOANNE’S BERRY CRISP

A very simple dessert that always pleases!

4 cups mixed berries of your choice
1/2 c sugar
2 T flour
2/3 c rolled oats
2/3 c packed brown sugar
2/3 c flour
1/2 t cinnamon
6 T cold unsalted butter

Toss the first 3 ingredients together and pour into an 8” square pan.

Combine the remaining dry ingredients in a bowl. Cut the butter into small cubes and add to the dry ingredients. Mix until crumbly.

Cover berries with the crisp topping and bake in a 350 degree oven for 45 minutes.

Serve topped with vanilla ice cream.

SERVES 6
Our big game hunting program is based entirely out of our Yaak location and here at LOC we take our hunting seriously. We’re all about fair chase, hunting hard, and hunting the old fashioned way.

LOC’s hunting area is permitted by the Kootenai National Forest and consists of over 100 square miles here in Yaak, Montana. The area is rugged and mountainous and most hunting takes place between the river-bottom at approximately 3,000 feet, to the ridge-tops at about 5,000 feet. This northwest corner of Montana is boreal forest and is essentially dense, coniferous stands of timber.

Each morning before daylight your guide will pick you up and drive no more than 45 minutes to a trailhead. From there, you’ll spend the day on foot employing all the elements and techniques associated with traditional still hunting including bugling, calling, rattling, spot and stalk, glassing and stand hunting.

LOC guides are local, licensed professionals. First, they are great guys and companions. Second, they are extremely experienced and accomplished hunters and sportsmen in their own right. Your guide will help pack out your trophy and meat. LOC works closely with a local butcher and taxidermist and can help deliver items as necessary should you desire.

Montana deer and elk licenses are by lottery drawing for non-residents with an application deadline of March 15th.

“Tim Linehan has built a great guide service and is personally the hardest working guide you will ever hunt with.”
